

MRS. NASH WILL GET A DIVORCE

But the Outlook for Alimony is Not Bright as Nash Has But 90 Cents Borrowed Money.

COURT CALENDAR.

Cases Set for Today.

DISTRICT COURT.

Division No. 1—Hon. W. C. Hall, Judge. Con. Jefferson G. & C. Mining Co. vs. Hugh L. Berley et al.

Division No. 2—Hon. S. W. Stewart, Judge. Alex. Stiefel vs. Con. Railway and Power Co.

Division No. 3—Hon. C. W. Morse, Judge. Sarah L. Nash vs. Albert H. Nash.

Division No. 4—Hon. T. D. Lewis, Judge. Union and Jordan Irrigation Co. vs. Richards Irrigation Co.

Job White vs. Century Gold Mining Co.

CITY COURT.

Civil division—Hon. H. S. Tanner, Judge. 10 a. m., Steffy vs. Pratt; 2 p. m., Parsley vs. Boyes.

The sensational features in the separate maintenance and divorce suit of Sarah L. Nash vs. Albert H. Nash were all eliminated yesterday with the filing of an amended complaint by the plaintiff, in which she merely charges her husband with non-support and asks for a decree of divorce, together with alimony in a sum not less than $50 per month. The complaint was filed as the result of an agreement, in which it was decided to leave out all the charges of desertion, cruelty and infidelity that were made in the former complaint asking for separate maintenance.

The defendant was placed upon the stand and testified as to his financial condition. With the exception of some real estate Mr. Nash claims to be practically destitute. He said he had been unable to find suitable employment owing to a partial deafness, and that all the money he had was 50 cents, which he had borrowed. The real estate mentioned consists of seven lots about three miles west of the city. Two witnesses were placed upon the stand and testified that the lots were not worth more than $25 each at the present time.

Witnesses for the plaintiff will be examined this morning in relation to the value of the property. The case was continued until today in order that the court could have more testimony upon which to decide the question of alimony. There is no doubt as to the plaintiff being awarded a decree of divorce.

GEORGE B. SHOWELL WANTS HIS INSURANCE.

The Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance company of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the defendant in a suit yesterday transferred to the Federal court. George W. Showell of Box Elder county is the plaintiff and seeks to collect the insurance on a barn which he insured on his residence and barn, which were destroyed on May 19, 1903. Showell avers that he had carried insurance for the above amount on his property and the insurance company now refuses to pay up as stipulated in the contract.

In its answer the Williamsburgh company declares that Showell made false representations as to the value of his property when he was insured, and that he has also made false representations as to the amount of the damage caused by the fire. The suit was originally filed in the District court in Box Elder county, but was transferred upon motion of the defendant.

ANOTHER CONTINUANCE FOR ARTHUR BROWN.

Still another continuance in the case of the State against Arthur Brown, charged with adultery, was granted today. Judge Morse in the District court yesterday. The time for the defendant to plead was set for next Monday, March 14th, by which time it is expected the Supreme court will have passed upon the petition for rehearing in the writ of prohibition, which was denied by the Appellate court. County Attorney Westervelt protested in vain again the postponement of the case. The date now set for the former Senator to plead is that fixed for the passing of sentence upon Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, who pleaded guilty to the crime charged against Arthur Brown. There is little likelihood that she will be sentenced until after Brown has been tried.

Court Notes.

Built for divorce was begun in the District court yesterday by Francis Brown against Ann Bradley. The case was granted having deserted the plaintiff in February, 1903. The parties intermarried in this city on May 7, 1899. The plaintiff asks for general relief and for costs.

In the District court Judge Lewis yesterday granted a decree of divorce to Minnie O'Brien from Timothy J. O'Brien on the grounds of habitual drunkenness and cruelty. The two children of the couple, who were married in 1898, were given into the care of the plaintiff. The defendant has been ordered to pay permanent alimony to the plaintiff in the sum of $50 per month.

COULTER, OF OGDEN, GOES TO WEST POINT

H. G. Coulter of Ogden passed the best examination in the tests recently held by State Superintendent Nelson for appointment to West Point. The appointment is to be made by Senator Smoot, and report of the result of the examination was made to him yesterday. The Ogden boy received the highest grades of the four applicants for the appointment, and, in fact, passed a most creditable examination. Mr. Nelson is of the opinion that he will have no trouble in passing the final examination to be held at Fort Logan, Colo., on May 1st.

Mr. Coulter is 17 years of age and is the son of Dr. C. E. and Mrs. Mary G. Coulter of Ogden. He passed a rigid physical examination before taking the mental tests.

WIND-UP OF CRIPPLE CREEK STRIKE CASES.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 8.—All cases against the union miners charged with different train derailings the Vindicator mine disaster and other offenses, have been nolleed on the request of District Attorney Trowbridge, before Judge Lewis.

The case against Charles H. McKinney, who confessed to complicity in the attempted train wrecking, has not been dismissed, and will come up on March 15th. He testified that he was with Special Agent Beckman and attempted to derail a Florence & Cripple Creek passenger train which was loaded with union and non-union men.

GIST OF POLITICAL GOSSIP

Governor Wells is not intending to let the impression go out that if Senator Reed Smoot is unelected, he will attempt to succeed to the place. He says he does not want to go to the Senate by the gubernatorial route.

A prominent Democrat, when told that M. E. Mulvey had been elected chairman of the combined city and county Democratic committee and that C. M. Jackson had been appointed secretary of the committee instead of A. H. Tarbet, as previously announced, fairly burst the air with his swear words. "I suppose that the only thing that a Democrat can do in Utah who has any respect for the party in general is to go down to the Jones river early some morning and drown himself."

The Board of Corrections will select a warden for the State prison this forenoon. The names that will likely go before the board are: Dr. A. C. Young, Arthur Platt, John Q. Cannon, Albert Charles Wilson, and George B. Squires. Not all of these are avowed candidates, but it is understood that their friends are busy in presenting their names to the appointing officers.

It is proposed to increase the salary of the President of the United States to $75,000 a year. The great expense to which a President must go to maintain the dignity of the office, it is said, deters many a poor man from getting into the national game. If the salary is increased it is supposed that the Democrats will have no difficulty in finding plenty of available material with which to construct a national ticket. But at present there is no "really good Democrat" who can afford to undertake the job.

There are more than a score of uses for a political club, it is said, but the most effective service is rendered in putting candidates on the sick list.

Since Mayor Morris has been assured that he is not to be kidnapped he appears to be in a better frame of mind. It was a close call for him, and he is more than thankful to the News' sleuth reporter for giving him warning in time to fortify himself.

The Herald recently said that in the matter of making appointments that "The Mayor has the whip hand." May be so, but he does not seem to be able to understand what to do with it.

Councilman Fernstrom announced to the Council Monday night that Health Commissioner Stewart is "trying to be the whole thing." Is it possible that the Third ward member has become jealous?

A clumsy attempt was made by some of the Democratic members of the Council to put President Hewitt in the hole on the labor question, but the plan miscarried. It becomes more and more evident that President Hewitt is not one of the Democratic members seemed to think him to be. He is not only able to meet their tactics and frustrate them on all occasions, but he is so adroit in his manner that those who are most discomfited by his cause for personal resentment. Councilman Fernstrom attempted to bulldoze the President Monday night, but he was easily routed.

Mayor Morris may never recognize that he has met his Waterloo in President Hewitt and other Republican members of the Council. Some persons are politically so obtuse that they cannot see a conundrum until it runs over them. Mayor Morris is laying himself open to the suspicion that he is in that class. He has been given to understand on at least four occasions that he cannot govern the Republic with the aid of the Council. He continues to stand before them as the high priest and executioner. He moves the wand that has been placed in his impotent hand by those of his party, but it is without magic. He is not "it." He refuses to be anything less. He might have been able long ago to pay half of his campaign debts. He declined to liquidate until he could get the Democrats to be a part of the city government. He will be the top, side and bottom, and now he finds himself floundering about in a sea of self-conflict, helplessness and naked before his enemies.

There is really something pathetic in this affair of Mayor Morris. He probably would be fair with the Council majority if he were permitted to hear out his own course. He doubtless knows that he cannot accomplish his ends so long as he pursues the course he is now following. It is madness without the semblance of method. He is badly, shamefully advised. He is being led a wild-goose chase with no possible chance for the game. No man for a moment will concede that the Mayor has any possible show of accomplishing his ends without the assistance of the majority of the Council. And there is no one that will hold the men of the character of the Republican members will permit the over-weening policy of the Mayor to triumph. It would be to stultify themselves in the eyes of their constituents.

The Republican members of the Council are not made of that stuff.

Mayor Morris should not further dally with them.

He should cease to taunt them with obnoxious nominations. His course in the matter of the clerkship of the Board of Health is unpardonable. Council cannot and will not respect the executive so long as he flouts such things in their faces.

What would the Senate of the United States think of a President that would on every possible occasion send that body for confirmation an appointment that he had absolute knowledge of it being personally offensive to the Senate and which he was certain would not be confirmed? Would that Senator feel that a personal affront were intended?

If Mayor Morris is acting in this patronage matter in his own right and without the force of strong political pressure, he deserves to be taken aside by some of the level-headed men of his party and taught a few lessons.

UTAH POLITICS AND RELIGION

F. E. McGurkin Tells a Denver Paper What He Thinks of the Smoot Investigation.

F. E. McGurkin of this city stopped in Denver on his way home from the East, and gave a warm interview to the Denver Republican.

"In this and other countries," said he, "people generally think only of polygamy when there arises a discussion as to the merits of the Mormon church. But that is not the chief evil of this organization. The Mormons are dead set into politics. If they would only keep their hands off the elections it would be all right. As it is, they hold the balance of power in Utah. In Salt Lake, 60 per cent of the population are Gentiles, but the church swings every election the way the leaders command. The word goes down from the president to the apostles and the bishops. At 12 o'clock on election day if necessary the Mormons can frame up to carry an election."

"But among the Mormons there is, perhaps, a less degree of immorality than can be found elsewhere. I believe, however, that the younger element in the church is losing interest in the old teachings. Many of them do not care particularly to be identified with the organization. Such as turn their backs upon the church are ostracized and for that reason many remain in the church who do not want to be in."

"A Russian who comes to this country without taking out his naturalization papers has no more right to be a United States Senator than Reed Smoot. Smoot's allegiance to the church is greater than to his country. No great objection has been raised in Salt Lake to the old Mormons living with their plural wives. They don't deny it, for if they did they would cast a reflection upon the legitimacy of many children."

"If a Mormon is to be admitted to the United States Senate, the possibilities are at the present time the Mormons have a good grip upon the political machinery of the country. They are invading western Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona. Supposing that they should eventually land twelve Senators in the United States Senate. These men would vote as a unit upon all things and have the balance of power in their hands. They believe that they are to rule the earth. If Smoot is admitted, then the next United States Senator from Utah will be a Mormon and Mormon Senators from other States will go to the Senate."

In official courtesy, if he acts under pressure too strong to be personally resisted, his party should go to his rescue.

In the spirit of a Republican member of the Council, L. E. Morris says that he is willing to put the matter of the appointments on the basis of principle, and stop sending in appointments for the Council to confirm that are personally objectionable, and we will meet him on the same footing that is in keeping with his office. Unless he does this he can never have the Council's respect."

The latest phase of the Board of Health clerkship muddle is that Health Commissioner Stewart has notified the Mayor's appointee that he is persona non grata in the health department, and the combination of the safe has been changed that Jackson cannot have access to the books and documents. Dr. Stewart holds that until Council confirms an appointment, the duties of the clerk will be performed by Sanitary Inspector Margetts. Jackson has filed a written protest, but Dr. Stewart is only giving the Mayor's appointee the laugh.

Dr. Stewart insists that there is no possible show for Jackson's confirmation, and he holds that he would be reluctant to let his trust if he permitted the health department to be turned over to a man who is in no legal sense warranted to take charge. If Council had not passed on the Mayor's appointment, then the Health Commissioner feels that he would not be upheld in locking the Mayor's appointee out, but now the Council has said by its vote in three or four meetings that it did not approve of the Mayor's nomination. Dr. Stewart feels that the only proper thing for him to do is to refuse Jackson access to the records of the office.

And Dr. Stewart is right.

The concluding paragraph of Mayor Morris's message to the Council, in the face of his conduct toward the Council for the past four weeks, reads very much like he were attempting to win the Council on false pretense. "We want more people to come and live with us," he wrote, "and invest their money here, and to this end it is my earnest desire that we work in harmony." The first thing Mayor Morris did following this was to try to discharge an unpleasant campaign obligation by foisting on the city a candidate that is obnoxious to the majority of the Council and to the apparent disgust of the majority of the people as well. And what makes the Mayor's overture the more ridiculous is the fact that he continues to flout the same unsavory personage in the faces of the Council, even when on three occasions he has been assured that his action is nothing short of an insult. "Harmony!" Bah!

LIGHT CUT OFF BY ELECTRICAL STORM

The Salt Lake valley and surrounding country was visited by a severe electrical storm last night. It rained, snowed and blizzarded and lightning flashes were followed by peals of clapping thunder. The heavily charged atmosphere affected the light and car wires and the city was threatened by darkness. For the length of half an hour early in the evening the lights were all out and the cars were at a standstill owing to a short circuit of the power wires between the stockyard and Kay's. Another short circuit occurred at Provo, but was overcome without any great loss of time and did not materially affect the power plants.

Strengthened Mother and Child.

Words cannot express my gratitude for the good which Wine of Cardui has done for me. Before my baby was born I was troubled with irregular and painful menstruation and I began to use Wine of Cardui. In a short time it made a different woman of me, and as I took it for a couple of months before the baby came I am sure that made the pains less and the baby stronger. I find that it is excellent to restore the strength and do not think any woman should be without it. I am therefore pleased to give my testimonial.
